

Girl Scout Volunteer Program

When children lose their hair, whether as a result of medical treatments, health conditions, or burn accidents, they don't just suffer physically. The change in their appearance can drastically undermine their self-image and sabotage their self-esteem. To combat this additional trauma Wigs for Kids, a nonprofit organization, has been serving children suffering from hair loss since 1980.

Girl Scouts and Wigs for Kids have partnered to bring awareness to this great need. Troops/groups can run cut-a-thons, encourage salons to sign up for the Wigs for Kids ambassadors or affiliate programs, open and wrap hair donations or come up with a creative way to support awareness. Individuals can also donate 12" or more of chemically free hair to be used in making wigs for children in need.

Program Outcome:

Participants will have an opportunity learn more about illnesses that cause hair loss and be able to make a difference in the lives of other children.
